Miss Blanch Chapman's impersonation of "Olivette" was an exquisite piece of acting, and be reception last night proved that she is still a great favorite with a Richmond audience. cided hits in their respective parts, and, in-deed, the entire company did so well that it is hard to particularize. The music of this opera is decidedly sprightly and taking, especially the song of "The Torpedo and the Whale," which so captivated the audience that they insisted on its repetition at least five times.

opera, in two acts, entitled "Bilice Taylor; or, the Reward of Virtue," a piece which has had a most successful run in the Charity Girl's Precepts," "The Volunteers who Shot for Cigars," and "All of Account of Eliza." As this will probably be the only opportunity our people will have this season of seeing this new operthe Theatre will doubtiess be crowded.

THE MOZART LAST NIGHT-TROVATORE .-As is usual on opera nights, there was a erowded attendance at the Mozart last evening, when portions of "Il Trovatore' was presented by the following cast:
Manrico, Mr. E. W. Hoff; Conti di Luna,

Mr. Pierre Bernard; Fernando, Mr. G. W. Scott; Ruiz, Mr. Monte Walker; Leonora, Madam Caroline Richings-Bernard; Inez Miss May Thomas.

In the rôle of Leonora Madam Bernard has full scope for her grand tragic powers, and in the test of last evening she added another to her many operatic triumphs.

Miss Thomas personated Inez with much grace, and her vocal numbers were well given. Mr. Hoff was in fine voice, and did full justice to the severe results. the characters he essays.

Messrs. Scott and Walker assisted materially in the success which marked the entertainment, and the audience, from their frequent expressions of approval, seemed at its conclusion to have enjoyed a charming musical evening.

On the 5th of May the Doctor of Alcantara will be presented for the especial en-tertainment of the American Medical Assolation, which will be in session here at that The Baton will issue a special No. for that occasion.

"HAPPY HOMES" To-NIGHT .-- Dr. Mc Donald will deliver his popular lecture on "Happy Homes" to-night at the First Baptist church. A happy home is one of the most desirable things in life, and if you don't know how to make it so go to-night and let Dr. McDonald tell you.
